Noted Speakers Gather Here For Ninth Annual Conference

Tom Duff, '49 Named Town Manager In Local Shuffle

A Middlebury College alumnus, Thomas E. Duff '49, has been hired as Middlebury's Town Manager, it was announced last week. Political interest ran high on the local scene when the news broke that the Selectmen, Trustees, and Water Department representatives had secretly requested the resignation of the present Town Manager, Ernest E. Lothrop.

Although Lothrop at first indicated an unwillingness to resign, he later stated his intention to do so, expressing a desire to complete certain projects at which he is currently engaged. Lothrop is in his 70's. Press reports indicated sentiment on the part of some voters that a younger man might be better equipped to handle the job. Some voters indicated a dissatisfaction with the secrecy connected with Lothrop's ousting.

M.D. Marshall, chairman of the Trustees, said that he has never questioned Lothrop's integrity and that he, Lothrop, has "always shown a genuine interest in municipal problems." Marshall said that he was sorry that the situation had been exposed to the public in the present light, indicating that a quiet resignation had been hoped for.

Duff will be the 5th Town Manager since the plan was adopted thirteen years ago.

A. Healy's Entry Takes 1st Prize

First prize at the annual exhibition of the Springfield Art League was awarded to Arthur K. D. Healy, associate professor of Fine Arts at Middlebury. His entry was a watercolor entitled "Winter Landscape."

At present Mr. Healy's watercolors are also being displayed at the National Academy and the Salmagundi Club in New York. The Boston Society of Independent Artists has retained from a previous exhibit one of his Monhegan sketches in order to present it in another group showing. During the winter, Mr. Healy's works have been included in exhibits in Charleston, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Portland, Burlington, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

Sayre Address To Open 2-Day Idea Interchange

"The American Response to World Crisis" will be discussed beginning Saturday, March 17 at 11:00 a.m., when the Ninth Annual Middlebury Conference opens in the Middlebury High School Gymnasium. The two-day program, designed to stimulate student thought and to encourage exchange between students and speakers, has brought to Middlebury eight prominent representatives of the fields of government, education, and literature.

Francis B. Sayre, United States representative to the Trusteeship Council of the United Nations, will deliver the keynote address at this time. The Saturday morning session will also include an introductory speech by Shoana J. Edgar '51, Conference co-chairman, and an opening address by President Samuel S. Stratton.

Judiciary Committee Acts On Twenty Car Violations

Twenty violations of campus automobile regulations have been announced by the Student Judicial Committee which met on Monday, March 12, to impose penalties.

Three men have failed to return tickets and pay $1 fines for violation of campus parking regulations: Richard M. Davis '51, John H. Moye '51, and Timothy J. Linehan '54. Cars with the following license plates are not registered to the knowledge of the Judicial Committee: Vermont 35340, Mass. 221649, N.Y. QQ2211, N.Y. 6WJ578. The owners of these cars should report to a member of the Judicial Committee and subject himself to the penalty as prescribed by the Car Regulations. Failure to do this will result in an additional penalty when

Composers' Conference Dropped; Finds New Home At Bennington

The nationally known Composer's Conference, held at Middlebury for the past five summers, will take place at Bennington College this year, it was recently announced. Rising costs and the national emergency are believed to have caused the college to drop the Conference.

President Carlson and the trustees of U.V.M. indicated a desire to have the Conference at that school, but recent plans to hold a summer session there necessitated a cancellation of tentative arrangements.

Last year the New York Times stated that the Conference, which is usually held after the close of the summer language sessions, has a "valuable contribution to make to our musical life, and one that is not duplicated anywhere else. This is the kind of thing that can be a stimulus to America's coming of age creatively."

A story on the New York Times music page recently attributed the moving of the Conference to a fire at Middlebury. This report was erroneous.

Cronin Elected Blue Key Head

Captain-elect of the 1952 hockey team, William D. Cronin '52, was elected president of Blue Key, men's honorary and service society, Tuesday night. Raymond A. Ablondi '52, was elected secretary-treasurer of the organization. Ablondi was captain of the indoor track team this year. The new president is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity; Ablondi is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Blue Key was established at Middlebury in 1930. Since that time, it has undertaken various activities such as orientation of freshman men, sale of football programs, and greeting of visiting athletic teams.

Are You Going?

For some students the Middlebury Conference means little more than a release from class obligations, a chance to go home, or a chance to sleep. A reason in past years for such a response was the selection by the Conference Policy Committees of topics that had little popular appeal. This year's topic, "The American Response to World Crisis," does have popular appeal. It is a topic for which all thinking students should be concerned. The non-veteran is faced with the draft and a "police action war" in Korea; the ex-GI is faced with recall; all of us are faced with higher taxes, rationing, mobilization, and the sorry prospect of a garrison-type existence. WHAT SHOULD BE OUR RESPONSE TO THE WORLD CRISIS?

The Conference Committee has been fortunate, in these days of national and international tension, to obtain such speakers as William L. Shirer, who saw it happen before in Berlin; former Truman advisor, Edwin G. Nourse, who has been critical of administration policies; Michael W. Straight, editor of the New Republic and an advocate of early intervention before Pearl Harbor; Foster R. Dulles, foreign policy expert; Francis B. Sayre, Roosevelt appointee as Assistant Secretary of State and Truman appointee as U.S. representative to the UN Trusteeship Council; Edmund Fuller, Saturday Review critic; Ira Wolfert, novelist and Pulitzer Prize winner in 1943; and moderator Robert Babcock, brilliant young U.V.M. professor and a Vermont State senator.

The Conference topic is timely; in the lineup are men capable of hitting a long ball. A generation of students about to receive a bequest of a strife-torn world that is threatened with self-destruction, a world that, even in the West, only partly or reluctantly accepts American leadership, should be keenly interested in the views of these experts, as they discuss "The American Response to World Crisis." Are you going?

9:00 a.m. classes - 8:40-9:10

10:30 a.m. classes - 9:15-9:45
11:30 a.m. classes - 9:50-10:20

The domestic aspects of the 1951 Conference topic will be discussed in a panel on Saturday afternoon at 1:45 p.m. to be conducted by moderator Robert S. Babcock, assistant professor of political science at the University of Vermont. Mr. Babcock will preside over all Conference sessions.

Edwin B. Nourse, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors to the President; Ira Wolfert, Pulitzer Award winner and novelist; and Edmund Fuller, noted author and a critic for the Saturday Review of Literature, will speak on the domestic panel.

Saturday evening from 8:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m., in the lounges of the Student Union Building, college students and faculty members will have the opportunity to discuss with the speakers any topic in which they are particularly interested. Many people have expressed the belief that this period of informal give and take is the most stimulating part of the Conference program.

The international implications of the "American Response to World Crisis" will be discussed in a panel to be held Sunday, March 18, at 10:00 a.m. Speaking on this panel will be Foster Rhea Dulles, professor of history at Ohio State University and an expert on the Far East; William L. Shirer, well-known columnist and commentator; and Michael W. Straight, editor of the New Republic.

A summary panel in which all Conference speakers will participate, will be presented Sunday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. in the High School Gym. Mr. Babcock will conclude the panel and the Ninth Annual Conference with a summary address.

Rev. Joseph F. Fletcher, professor at the Episcopal Theological School, who was previously announced as a speaker, will be unable to attend the Conference because of illness.

Copies of books written by various speakers are available at the Vermont Book Store and will be sold in the High School Gym during Conference sessions.

Co-chairmen of the 1951 Conference committee are John R. Walsh '51, Shoana J. Edgar '51, and William A. Sommers '51. Lois A. Schawaroch '51, is secretary.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

The opinions reflected in the article on how to spend Hetty's money should alter the impression held by far too many that Middlebury students are trying to avoid getting a liberal education!

Permit me to add my voice to the clamours of "Keep the new profs." Professors or instructors, they have proved to a man that they are worth keeping, even if the college has to get along without a swimming pool. Each young instructor has brought fresh knowledge, insight and enthusiasm to his course. One new instructor covered in one semester the material covered in both last year; then planned to bring his subject up-to-date by showing its reflections in such contemporary works as Koestler's DARKNESS AT NOON. Another relates his subject, literature, to all the arts, and is so up-to-date that he sounds like a walking and advanced TIME magazine, with the latest scoop on modern art. They have brushed the dust off the classics and the theories, polished them up, and presented them to us in a new and brighter light. Is it any wonder that the new faculty members have the students' vote of confidence?

With all their outside work, which must be tremendous to keep them so intellectually alert and modern, these young men find time to advise the students on anything from enlisting to job hunting. They're a terrific group. Middlebury is lucky to have them. I feel certain that the senior members of each department would regret losing their particular new instructor. And certainly the students would regret the loss of even one. So let's keep them all!

To The Editor:

Due to the lack of interest in signing for auditions, and the laxness in keeping appointments, open Variety Show auditions will be held starting Friday, March 16. The directors will be in the North Lounge of the Student Union from 4:00 p.m. through 5:30 p.m. during the week and from 1:30 p.m. through 5:00 p.m. on Saturday. Auditions will end on Thursday, March 22.

No sign-ups will be necessary. All students who are interested in taking part in this year's show are urged to audition even though they have participated before.

Sign-up sheets will be up next week for committees. There are opportunities for anyone who wants to work backstage.

The skits are ready, and now the success of this year's Variety Show depends entirely on the students.

To the Editor:

As I was not fortunate enough to be one of the individuals encountered by Renton Bond during his research on student opinion regarding the $2,000,000, I should like to add my own suggestion to the "what shall we do with it" pile.

Another much needed addition to Middlebury is a GOOD music studio where there is adequate room for offices, SOUND-PROOFED practice rooms, larger rehearsal rooms, and facilities for required listening. The pianos could be KEPT well tuned, the turntables in good running order, and the present library enlarged or at least maintained. The employment of some funds in this manner would not only contribute to the physical plant, but also the furthering of Arts at Middlebury.

MIDD MEMO

Bill Deming, having spotted that man-about-campus, Bill Trask, at a recent Policy Committee meeting of the '51 Conference, exclaimed in incredulous tones, "My gosh, have they started selling tickets to THIS too?"

Mrs. Robert Klein, wife of the youthful economics professor, finally got her chance. Thanks to a high bid at a psuedo-auction, held at the Alpha Slug Poverty Party, she was given the opportunity of clobbering her faithful husband with a fresh banana cream pie. And clobber she did! All chaperons are warned, that in addition to frequent checks on social transgressions, they are to be on the lookout for low flying pies.

Pardon-Our-Stench Department: A squirrel or two, no doubt spurred on by normal male curiosity, has been located (trapped dead, that is) in the walls of Forest West. If it hadn't been for the odor of decomposition, the invaders would never have been spotted. The animals, who, according to Mrs. Wing travel in pairs, have succeeded in being most inconsiderately disconcerting.

This is the season of the year when the less fortunate Midd traveler begins to search out rides to assorted destinations, thus easing the financial strain, and incidentally giving spring vacation a quick start. If we had it to give away, our favorite Model A would be awarded to that clever trio, Schenley Smith, Tony Homet and Monk MacClurg, who having lowered themselves to the primitive stage, plaintively moan (via a Student Union sign) for a "ride back to civilization."

A glib part-time student preacher, urging one of his more atheistically inclined friends to come hear him some Sunday and be saved, was caustically informed that "I'll stay home and be SPARED!"

Road signs evidently have been misunderstood. Alert CAMPUS correspondents, reporting from on the spot experience, tell of seeing automobiles riding everywhere but on the highways. Cars have been spotted pulling up to the front door of Pearsons, riding down Chapel walk, taking the sharp hill directly east of Warner Science Building, and generally making life hectic for the multitudes of pedestrians.

Reorganization Of Assembly Discussed At Meeting; Gifford Food Petition OK'd

Discussion of proposed changes in Men's Student Government; approval of a petition complaining about the quality, quantity, and cost of food in the college dining halls; and the appointment of a new community chest head, were the highlights of the Men's Assembly meeting held Tuesday, March 13.

The committee of the Assembly which has been working on possible revisions in the Assembly set-up, presented a proposal designed to strengthen the Men's Assembly by having the representatives represent specific interests on campus such as fraternities, classes, activities, and freshmen and neutrals. Under the proposal the Assemblymen would include one representative from each fraternity, class presidents, dormitory proctors, the president of Blue Key, the president of the Interfraternity council, the editor of the CAMPUS, and several representatives elected at large.

The proposed system is patterned indirectly after a system known to be operating very successfully at Dartmouth, and is considered by its sponsors to offer a solution to the present system under which men are elected by dormitory floors, and, having no specific interests to represent, have shown little interest in the action of the assembly.

A narrow vote authorized the committee to continue the study along its present lines. Any changes must be approved by a vote of the entire men's college, and by the administration.

A petition by a large number of freshmen complaining about the food served in Gifford Hall was approved by the Men's Assembly at its meeting. The petition will be sent within the next ten days to President Samuel S. Stratton; Egbert C. Hadley, chairman of the board of trustees; Robert A. Sommers, food service director and Irwin K. French, Business Manager.

One item in the petition is a statement to the effect that a letter, a copy of which is enclosed with the petition, will be sent to all parents of freshmen if action is not taken to correct these complaints.

Halsted '52, co-chairmen of the publicity committee, and Brig B. Elliott '52, director of the 1951 Variety Show.

Alumni Director Granted Leave

President Samuel S. Stratton announced on Tuesday of this week that a six months' leave of absence has been granted Edgar J. Wiley, Director of Alumni Relations, for reasons of health. Mr. Wiley will begin his leave of absence today, March 15.

For more than thirty-eight years, Mr. Wiley has served Middlebury College in various administrative capacities. He was Dean of Men for nine years and served as Admissions Director and Director of Personnel for the sixteen years prior to taking charge of the U.S.O. station at Williamsburg, Virginia, in 1943.

Since the end of World War II, Mr. Wiley has been Director of Alumni Relations. As Director of Middlebury's Memorial Fund in 1945, he led a successful drive to raise funds for the College's half-a-million-dollar combination World War II Memorial Field House and Gymnasium.

Mr. Wiley is known by thousands of Middlebury Alumni. For several years in his capacity as Alumni Secretary, he has travelled thousands of miles all over the United States attending reunion dinners. He makes his home in Brandon.

Choir To Present Preview of New York Show

The Middlebury College Choir, under the direction of H. Ward Bedford, will present a program of choral works next Wednesday night, March 21, at 8:15 p.m., in the Middlebury High School gymnasium. The program, which will be presented free of charge, will preview the Choir's appearance in the New York City Town Hall on March 30, under the auspices of the New York and New Jersey Alumni Association.

The program includes works by Josquin Des Pres, William Byrd, Thomas Morley, Luca Marenzio, John Dowland, John Farmer, Thomas Weelkes, Jean Berger, Carmargo Guarnieri, Norman Lockwood, and Ludwig Lenel.

Said Mr. Bedford in a discussion of the New York program: " Books on the history of music have long described the music of Josquin Des Pres as being worthy of first rank. To the vast majority of people his name is unknown. The three numbers included on the program can speak for themselves. The TU SOLUS QUI FACIS MIRABILIA is a motet of great beauty in its simple melodic lines. The two chansons, written in old French, show Des Pres' ability at infusing emotional color into music.

" At the end of the 16th and beginning of the 17th centuries, England enjoyed a position of highest rank in musical inventiveness. Two motets from English composers Byrd and Morley have been selected to illustrate. A Christmas motet from Italy of the late 16th century rounds out this group.

" The secular music of England has enjoyed a great deal of attention and four works are included. These are singularly well written for the medium and offer a wide range of emotion and color.

" Perhaps the most unusual part of the program is in the last group. It was thought that to point up the differences between the older school of choral writers, contemporary works would offer a striking contrast. The two Psalms by Mr. Berger show not only skill but also a profound understanding of text and choral resources. One of the younger composers from Brazil, Guarnieri, has written in all forms. The selection we have chosen, EGBEGI, is Afro-Brazilian in character. The negro influence in South America is somewhat like that of our own southland. Norman Lockwood has been associated with Oberlin Conservatory and is currently teaching composition at Columbia. CHRIST IS RISEN was submitted at our request and is particularly timely at this season. REJOICE IN THE LORD is based on a persistent bass figure which is worked out with most interesting cross rhythms and counterpoint. Mr. Lenel is of local interest in that he has been a lecturer at the German Summer School and has been on the staff of the Composers' Conference."

SCULPTURE LESSON, a photographic exhibition by the editors of Life magazine, is on display in the Browsing Room of the Library until April 1.

The sub-title of SCULPTURE LESSON is " William Zorach demonstrates the basic steps in modeling clay and casting." The exhibition is based on a story which originally appeared in Life. However, the material is greatly expanded, and numerous pictures heretofore unpublished have been added.

The Ivy Tower Visits An Intramural Ski Meet

By Ken Nourse

...OH, THAT'S TERRIBLE

"Five... four... three... two... one... Go," said the voice over the top-to-bottom phone, and forerunner Gret Storer, a KKG in a fraternity ski meet, took off on the downhill trail at Breadloaf on an intermittently sunny Saturday afternoon.

"Here she comes now," said the timer over the bottom phone. "1:51 plus."

You could hear Gret disgustingly saying "Oh, that's terrible." And that's how the first five minutes of the first Intramural ski meet in the history of Middlebury College went last Saturday afternoon. Clustered up there at the top of that "White Tower" were some thirty-three rinky-dink skiers . all of them daring enough to go down that suicide chute, but some of them shuddering, not from the cold, but from the thought of the consequences.

...BROWNIE GOES BERSERK

After the first fifteen men had shoved off, the sun decided to call it a day and it became colder than the hinges of Hadees. It must have effected brodingnagian Dick Brown because it took him the same amount of time it takes to get a haircut at Trudeau's to get to the bottom ... 5:09.3. Brown had a little trouble on the first right turn and went careening into the woods like a runaway beer truck. After discussing the remainder of the trail with his coach Buzz Tilton, who because of lack of faith, had stationed himself there, the bespectacled Brown continued on his merry way. When he got to the last schuss, he decided to stop and investigate. He probably thought he had called a time out, but the second hands kept ticking away as if thankful for the chance to keep warm. When it was all over, Brown jokingly said, "I told you I'd either win or lose."

Everyone thought the Slugs would win the downhill and they did. Meet manager Bob Bishop took a second with 1:42.7 and his teammates Bill Butler and Kim Seeley took eighth and ninth respectively to give the gashouse gang first place in the team scores. Bandy-legged Tom Gilman, the ATO's all-around intramural athlete, won the race with a time that quite surprised him ... 1:38.6.

...A SUNDAY SLALOM

It was a little warmer and less windy Sunday morning when Bob Bishop and Curly Rapp began setting the slalom course. There were about a dozen gates and it didn't look too bad to a non-skier from the bottom. However, some of the participants thought otherwise. Rog Handy turned to Phil Barton and said, "Look, Phil, they haven't changed the course since Carnival."

I was talking to Doug Ladd of KDR in the warming hut just before the race. KDR was the dark horse of the meet, but their hopes had waned when newcomer Gordy Brown separated his shoulder in Saturday's downhill. Doug wasn't saying much as he checked the score sheet with Bernie Twitchell. Bernie was worried about the Slugs, while Doug was worried only about KDR. However, both agreed that win or lose, they were having a great time.

Barton and the rest of the Dekes, Bernie Twitchell, Billy Whittemore, and Benny Barsanti were determined to win the slalom. Billy Butler was scratched from the Slug team, thereby establishing the Dekes as the slalom favorites.

The reticent Mr. Ladd, the senior class Veep, won the slalom with a time of 44.8 seconds while his teammate John Cummings took a fourth in 54.2 seconds. Twitchell was second with 44.9 and Barton third with 45.0 even. The best the Slugs could do was Bishop's 46.8, good enough for a seventh.

Twitchell and Barton waited at the finish line and watched their hopes doused when Billy Whittemore spilled .. and then covered up when Benny Barsanti followed suit. Lightly regarded Theta Chi placed Don Drew, Al Greene and Jeff Francisco fifth, sixth and eighth respectively to take a third in the final team standings.

KDR won the meet by .3 of a point over ASP, while the Dekes literally fell to fourth.

Phil Barton, the skiing dry cleaning agent, had a second in the downhill and a third in the slalom to win the coveted snowball dunked in water, emblematic of the Intramural Skimeister.

...SKIPPER'S TAKE NOTE

To say that the meet was a success would be an understatement. The participants all agreed that it was the best of the varied intramural leagues. It looks like Bob Bishop and Curly Rapp sold Czar Kelly a bill of goods. They organized it, set the courses, timed it and scored it. Even though the ski meet will be an added headache to the Intramural point system, it should be incorporated in the program of sports. You fraternity men who are interested in Intramural sailing should take a tip from Bishop and Rapp. They nursed the ski meet into reality. There's no reason why you can't do the same.

Middlebury Sextet Beats Hamilton 9-4

Out Of The Blue

By Ed Hickcox

...A LETTER ANSWERED

In LETTERS TO THE EDITOR last week Pete Perryman expressed disfavor with the present system of awarding letters for participation in sports. His arguments, in main, were the fact that minor sports, such as lacrosse, often play schools where that sport is in the major category. The records of minor sports compare favorable with those of major sports; participants in minor sports train just as hard or harder than players on major teams.

Being an old hand at that interesting torture called cross-country, this writer would naturally tend to favor Mr. Perryman's side for equalization of letters but it must be admitted that an argument exists for the present system.

A check shows that there are six major sports at Middlebury as compared with five so-called minor sports. Football, naturally makes the grade because of attendance and player participation. Basketball is a natural indoor sport. Skiing has to be a major sport, or else what would 90% of Middlebury students ("who own their own skis") do during the winter. Hockey has the appeal of boxing (somebody's sure to get clobbered). Baseball is the national pastime, while nobody knows why track at Middlebury gets the major denomination.

On the other hand, the only spectators at cross-country meets are the golfers who yell "fore" as the runners go by. Only 36,000 spectators (all non-Middleburyites) watched the board track team in action this year. Lacrosse is still young at Midd. Tennis and Golf seem to be in a class with Polo.

If attendance and Middlebury interest are the factors in selecting a major sport then those named as such (excepting track) qualify for the position.

The major sports at this school follow those at other colleges for the most part. Skiing is an exception for obvious reasons, but in lacrosse, although we played RPI, one of the top lacrosse teams in the east, we played their junior varsity.

On paper all teams maintain training rules. Probably Duke isn't too strict with the golf team, but otherwise it is a reflection on the team members rather than on the sport when the backbone of the team didn't want to throw away his last pack of cigarettes.

Sure it would be nice for everyone to get a sweater, a blanket and four day trips with steak every night, but it's hard to see just how cross-country can be ranked with football as a major sport. Equalize all the men's sports and pretty soon the WAA would be clamoring for sweaters (not a bad thought) and a new Field House.

...WELL DONE "OLD TOM"

According to the silvery tones of Pat Hardy of the Boston Globe, who announced the jump at Carnival, Tom Jacobs' third jump was one packed with emotion and nostalgia. Although it was the last jump of "Old Tom's" college career, it was probably important to him only as another attempt to pull his team back into the running. Captain Jacobs was a team man if there ever was one. At McGill, for instance, Tom had received a single penalty in his slalom run, but instead of lamenting the threat to his chances for the skimeister, he was worried about the damage his fall would do to the team score.

Jacobs skied varsity for four years (due to wartime rules on freshman athletes) and was a member of the team which took championships at Sun Valley in 1947. His early successes came in jumping, but of late he has developed into a top notch cross-country man and four event competitor.

Popular Tom Jacobs, who thought his coronation as Carnival King was "kinda silly," will not be through with skiing this year. Next year will probably see him shine out West, where he plans to take graduate work in geology.

Gibson Scores Three; Game Ends '51 Season

By Bill Marseilles

Middlebury's hockey team took advantage of a post season freeze when they traveled to Clinton, New York, on March 9, and beat Hamilton for the second time this season by a score of 9-4. Spider Gibson led the attack with four goals and one assist. The game was a tight affair until the last five minutes of the third period when the Panthers broke it wide open by scoring four goals.

The first period was scoreless until Reach tallied for Hamilton at 18:02. A minute and a half later Middlebury tied the score when Bill Cronin dented Hamilton nets on an assist from Bock. At 1:14 of the second period Spider Gibson got Midd's second goal and was assisted by Cronin. Hamilton came back at 9:24 when MacDonald beat Guetens. He was assisted by Beeching. Spider again put Middlebury in the lead when he scored at 13:19 and was aided by Bock. Half a minute later Fluff Grocott closed the scoring for the second period when he beat goalie Mills and was assisted by Forbes.

The Panthers apparently had the game sewed up when Gibson completed the hat trick at 3:19 of the third period and increased the lead to three goals. However, Hamilton rallied when Sanborn assisted by Birdsall beat Guetens at 7:32. Reach made the score 5-4 when he got his second goal at 11:12. But the punch line swung into action again when Cronin scored unassisted at 14:32, and Gibson tallied on an assist from Cronin at 18:24. Then Forbes broke into the scoring column a minute later and was aided by Gibson. Cronin ended the onslaught when he scored unassisted with two seconds to go in the game.

Goodwin Third At Mount Baldy

Verne Goodwin '53, captured third place in the Olympic Trials downhill at Sun Valley, Idaho, on March 10, and placed fourteenth in slalom trials the following day. Teammate Gale Shaw '53, was seventeenth in downhill and eleventh in slalom.

Goodwin was only .4 of a second behind winner Jack Reddish as he beat out some of the country's top racers, including Brooks Dodge of Dartmouth, in his bid for a berth on the 1952 Olympic Squad.

Goodwin and Shaw must compete in the Harriman Cup races on March 17-18 to be considered by the Olympic committee for the team. They will be judged on the basis of four races held at Sun Valley, the North American Championships which the Midd skiers did not enter, and the overall record.

Women Win Ski Meet

The Middlebury College women skiers again displayed their combined and individual strength when they participated in the U. S. Eastern Women's Alpine Championship held on Mt. Mansfield at Stowe, Vt., last Saturday and Sunday. Skiing under treacherous conditions, marked by many spills on the icy turns, the women compiled an excellent record.

Stowe's famous Nose Dive was the scene of Saturday's downhill race. Ann Jones, wife of ski coach Joe Jones, led a field of 18 with the winning time of 1:36.1. The first Middlebury woman in the standings was Joan Macklair, who turned in a 2:05.1 effort to capture the fifth position. Joan's time would have been considerably lower if she hadn't lost her footing on the icy snow a few scant yards from the finish line. Betsy Strong and Randi Klippgen finished eighth and ninth respectively, followed by Patsy McKenna 12th, Al Hildreth 14th, Jimmy Snively 15th, and Irene Widen 17th.

Betsy Strong, 19-year-old sophomore, made two flashing runs down the 31 gate, 2300 foot slalom to gain top honors in slalom competition held last Sunday. She made one run of 1:01 over the newly fallen snow which proved to be the best clocking of the day. Randi Klippgen, Middlebury exchange student from Norway, negotiated the tricky course for a combined total of 2:06.2

Ciccolella To Go; Scott, Cronin New Winter Captains

Athletic Director Arthur Brown announced with regret last Tuesday that Richard S. Ciccolella, head basketball and baseball coach, and football line coach, will be released in June. The cutting down of Athletic Department expenditures due to the world crisis was given as the reason.

The basketball and hockey teams elected new captains last Monday afternoon. Dan Scott, high scoring center, was elected to lead the 1951-52 basketball squad. He succeeds Chet Nightingale. Bill Cronin, high scoring wing, was elected to captain next year's Panther hockey team. He succeeds Wendy Forbes.

Bush League View

By Don Rowe

The final games of the intramural basketball season were played February 27, and March 1 with the powerful DU club coming through unscathed to take the league title with an 8-0 record.

On February 27, the PKT's defeated CP 50-34. Bill Leatherbee raced the PKT's with 32 points -- high single game for the season. Also on the 27th, the DKE's with Bill Becker hooping 12 points defeated Theta Chi 23-21.

The grand finale took place on March 1, with DU, PKT KDR and TC the victors. The DU's made it a clean slate by trouncing the Slugs 47-12. Moose Bergwall led the DU's with 17 markers. It was Leatherbee again, this time with 23 points, leading the PKT's to second place money and a 49-26 win over the Sig Eps. The DKE's ended up in show position as they edged KDR 24-21. Red Connors' 9 points sparked the DKE attack. Bill Mueller's 12 points helped his Theta Chi mates to wind up the season with a 28-24 victory at the Chi Psi's expense. Hats off to the DU's, 1951 Intramural Champs.

The voting for the Intramural All Star team was done by the managers of each house. Each manager selected a first and second team with 2 points given for a first team selection and 1 point for a second team selection. The leagues two outstanding players, Bill Leatherbee and "Moose" Bergwall will co-captain the team. Both received 9 first team votes. Leatherbee took individual scoring honors with 151 points in 8 games while Bergwall, last year's high scorer, garnered 106 points in 7 outings. The remainder of the first team is made up of "Hoot" Wescott of SPE, Mike Hunt of DU and "Gabby" Hughes the capable DU floor general. The second team positions go to Ernie Tanner, TC; Bill Skiff, KDR; Paul Farrell, PKT; and Irv Farrar, ATO.

The Trophy of Trophies race as of March 9, 1951, finds the DU's in first place with 466½ points followed by the DKE's with 351 points and the Sig Eps third with 286.

Baird Whitlock To Study At University of Edinburgh

Baird Whitlock, instructor in the English Department for the past three years, has been accepted to do graduate work at the University of Edinburgh in Scotland. Mr. Whitlock, who will enter Edinburgh next fall, will undertake two semesters of study which will probably include 17th century English Literature and Shakespeare.

After a year of study in Edinburgh, Mr. Whitlock hopes to obtain a position teaching American Literature at a university in England. Having gained this experience, Mr. Whitlock later plans to return to the United States.

Rather than undergo the work of obtaining a Ph.D degree which would be necessary to maintain a permanent position in Middlebury College, Mr. Whitlock feels that his experiences in Scotland and England will enable him to return to America better equipped to meet the immediate challenge of the American educational system. Other reasons motivating Mr. Whitlock's departure are his desire to attend the Edinburgh Festival, to spend Christmas on the Island of Iona, and Easter in Glastenburgh.

Mr. Whitlock said that he has enjoyed and profited from his three year sojourn at Middlebury College. He expressed regret at leaving friends, associates, and the warmth which is so much a part of Middlebury.

The new Town Manager was a Political Science major while at Middlebury and a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity. He did graduate work at the Maxwell School at Syracuse, and is employed by the Springfield, Mass., city government at the present time.

He will assume his new duties on the first of May. He comes highly recommended by his present employers, by the Maxwell School, and by Middlebury authorities who were associated with him when he was playground director here in the summer of 1949.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The University of Olso Summer School at St. Olaf College, Minn., has announced four scholarships, known as the Ralph Bunche Scholarships, to be made available to American and Canadian students.

The awards, worth $250 each, will be given on the basis of merit and will be applied toward the summer session of the school June 23 to August 4. Application may be made to the Oslo Summer School Admissions Office, St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn.

Alchemists Plan March 23 Show

A Science Show, sponsored by the Alchemists Club, and including demonstrations by the geology, geography and physics departments, will be presented Friday, March 23 at 7:30 p.m., in Room 32 of the Chemistry Building.

Eleanor W. Stutz, president of the Alchemists Club, is director of the show. In charge of the various departmental skits are: chemistry, Bob Ross '51; geology, Kim Seeley '52 and Bob Bowman '51; geography, Phil Dyett '51; physics, Bill Howard '52.

Although most of the show is remaining under wraps until the night of the performance, director Stutz hinted that it might be a good idea if the audience came equipped with raincoats.

AAUW To Fete Senior Women

The Middlebury chapter of the American Association of University Women will entertain the senior women of Middlebury College at an informal reception on Tuesday evening, March 20 at 8:00 p.m. in the South Lounge of the Student Union Building.

The local group sponsors an annual party in order to acquaint the senior women with this international organization to which they will be eligible following their graduation from Middlebury.

The A.A.U.W. is especially concerned with the higher education of women and the utilization of women in all phases of the life of our nation. Education, legislation, international relations and the arts are all included in its program.

Miss Rose Martin is president of the Middlebury branch.
